

OFFER PRIZES TO BOOST PRODUCTS OF GEORGIA

State Chamber of Commerce
Announces Contest for
"Georgia Products Day"

Three prizes of $10 each are offered by the chamber of commerce to the person furnishing the best list of Georgia products, the best menu and the best dinner of home raised stock, food and vegetables on November 13, which has been set aside as "Georgia Products Day." They will be a prize for the person winning in the day mentioned. A like prize is also offered to the one getting up the best menu suitable for serving at the dinner. This must be received not later than November 11. The third and last prize is offered for the best menu actually served.

The idea of the dinner is to stimulate interest in the immense variety of products grown in Georgia. As has been stated in an official publication of the department of agriculture, Georgia is so loaded with her products that, if a wall could be built around the entire state, it would be able to maintain its food supply for the present population but 15,000 additional persons.

BOOST GEORGIA PRODUCTS. To give publicity to this idea and interest the people in the possibilities of Georgia the plan of having at a set hour a day an exploitation of what Georgia can furnish to eat was conceived and will be put into execution through the efforts of the Georgia chamber.

Already enough assurances have been given by Messrs. Hudson and McGinnis, who are piloting the affairs of the state chamber for the present, to indicate that at least 150 towns will give public dinners on Georgia products day, though not every county is represented. At these dinners speakers will be provided by the chamber. The night of November 13 details of the various dinners, number of diners, etc., will be wired into the offices of the chamber in Atlanta, where they will be put into news form and distributed through the channels which they will bring the greatest amount of advertising to Georgia. The news of the organization are struggling to live up the cities throughout the state so that not a county will be missed from the list of diners.

Every Georgian is invited to win one of the prizes offered by the

ATLANTA CLUB GIVES $25 FOR BLIND MEN'S HOME

Institution's Friends Hope for Other Contributions to Relieve Pressing Needs

As its share toward the general public movement to help the blind men's industrial home in Atlanta from being closed, the Atlanta club gave $25 Thursday.

Other subscriptions are being made to supply the immediate need and bridge the institution over to more prosperous times. Those most interested in its welfare are hopeful that before long, Tuesday enough assurance will have been received to save the home.

One year ago the industrial home for the blind men of Georgia was established by the state association, formed the previous year, for helping the adult blind in the state. Enough money was advanced to make a payment on the home property in Atlanta, and to buy machinery for manufacturing brooms, the industry in which the blind were to engage. While the little factory continued it made its own expenses and cleared a small profit. Sufficient capital to operate it was lacking, though, and it was shut down recently.

The home is intended to serve a big need by helping the blind people to help themselves when the state cannot do for them. The state institution for the blind at Macon educates blind children for ten years. Then, for lack of industrial training, they are dependent upon relatives or their own efforts. The Atlanta home's purpose is to teach them a trade and help them to make their own living.

Milk 13 Cents a Quart
By Associated Press.
SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 30.—On Saturday morning the price of milk advanced in Savannah to 13 cents a quart. It has been 12 cents for a couple of years. This is looked upon as the forerunner for an even greater advance before the winter is gone. The high price of stock feed is assigned as the principal cause.

The chamber of commerce for the best menu and best home complete list of Georgia products. All lists must be received by the date nominated above and each should be addressed to the Georgia chamber of commerce, 300 Hurt building, Atlanta, Ga.

MUST SERVE SENTENCE FOR DEATH OF GIRL

Chatham Superior Court Upheld in Sentencing Isaac Silver to Prison

Isaac Silver, the Savannah young man convicted in the Chatham county superior court of involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death last spring of Miss Marion Leonard, a chaperon girl in the "Around the Clock" musical comedy company, who died as the result of a hypodermic injection of morphine administered by Silver, must serve the two years' sentence imposed upon him in the lower court.

The state court of appeals Thursday morning affirmed the verdict of the Chatham county superior court by rejecting Silver's petition for a new trial. After a performance of "Around the Clock" in Savannah, on the evening of March 8, last, Silver invited Miss Leonard and another chaperon girl to a private party in his room, and, according to the evidence submitted at the trial, the party partook of food and refreshment. After the refreshment Silver produced a hypodermic syringe and administered the first injection of the drug into her arm and then administered it to the two girls.

Both of the girls became violently ill, and Miss Leonard died during the night. Silver was indicted and arrested. He was represented by Attorney Shelby Byrnes, one of Chatham county's representatives in the general assembly. His defense was that he had administered the drug to alleviate pain and not with intent to kill.

The court of appeals holds that Silver's plea was no defense, for the reason that the state law forbids the giving of any administration of morphine or kindred drugs except upon the order of a physician or dentist, and that Miss Leonard's death came about because of Silver's commission of an unlawful act. It developed after Miss Leonard's death that her real name was Katherine O'Mara, and that her home was in New England.

STUDIES LAW TO HELP HER HUSBAND IN WORK

Fellow Students Honor Only Woman in the Atlanta Law School

The only woman student in the Atlanta law school, the wife of a student in the law school, was honored by her fellow students in the junior class Wednesday afternoon as the "most interesting playmate" of the law school. She is Miss E. M. Chastleton, formerly of New York.

One year ago Mrs. Chastleton came from New York with her husband when he entered the school to prepare himself for practice of law in Georgia. While he studied, she kept herself busy in order to maintain his comfort and peace of mind so that he could devote his entire attention to his studies. But she was not content to do this. She wanted to be a help-mate in the law as well. She wanted to make of herself a veritable aide, so that she could help him with his law problems.

Following this aspiration, a rule passed by the directors of the law school last year that no woman student should be admitted to the school. Permission was brought to bear upon the school, the strongest argument being that Mrs. Chastleton had been a law student for a year and three weeks ago she began her studies when the present term started. The high position which at that short time she has won in the esteem of her fellow students was indicated Wednesday afternoon in the regular class exercises when she was given the place of class secretary. The other officers elected were Robert M. Strickland, president; A. C. Leach, vice president; H. C. Brannon, treasurer, and J. A. Conrad, propert.

ADJUTANT GENERAL NASH BACK FROM INSPECTION

Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash has returned to Atlanta, after several weeks spent inspecting the national guard rifle ranges at Brunswick, Savannah and Augusta.

In consultation with officers of the militia in these cities General Nash suggested out improvements for the ranges. He was impressed with the dummy fort and its equipment, which has been provided by the war department on the Park extension at Savannah for the benefit of the Chatham coast artillery.

At this dummy fort the coast artillery will be instructed by regular army officers in range drilling and in handling large and small guns with which real forts are equipped.

LOCAL DISPOSAL PLANTS ARE PRAISED BY EXPERT

George H. Shaw, sanitary engineer for the United States department of agriculture, has been in Atlanta Thursday morning to inspect the local disposal plant in connection with a tour he is making of the country to get a line on sanitary conditions in the large cities.

After a thorough examination of the new Pretoria creek, Peachtree creek and Entertainment creek plants, Mr. Shaw stated that in his opinion the local plants were superior to any in the United States and in all probability the equal of any in the world.

"I find," said Mr. Shaw, "that the Inhofe tanks make your plants almost entirely equal to the best in the world. They are the most up-to-date and modern of any I have seen."

Mr. Shaw has just finished a trip through the middle west and the south in the course of which he visited Chicago, Philadelphia, Savannah, Jacksonville and several other large cities. His opinion is valuable.

He left for Washington at 2:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and in his report to the department will state that Atlanta's plants are the best he has inspected.

Mr. Shaw is not only inspecting sewage disposal conditions, but sanitary work of every kind. On his visit to this city he confined his investigations to the sewerage treatment plant, but he is to consider other phases of sanitation here.

Proves His Gameness By Serving at Wedding Of Girl He Had Wooed

When a man is stricken by pneumonia, it is an entertainment to which he has accompanied a young lady, and the physician who has been attending the young lady home and in the ensuing month wins her heart and hand, the man whose illness led to the match can prove himself a good sport. Like Samuel A. Boorstein did, by acting as best man at his wedding. Wednesday night Miss Marie Berger and Dr. M. K. Kausman were married at the home of the bride's parents, 145 East North avenue, and Mr. Boorstein was there as best man.

One month ago Mr. Boorstein, who is a young lawyer of Atlanta, secured Miss Berger to an entertainment in the Jewish Alliance building on Capitol avenue. She was to be there nine. It was then that he was attacked by pneumonia, pneumonia. Dr. Kausman was called at once and saved the young lawyer's life. He took the patient to his home and he had to be taken home. Miss Berger, then devoted of her original escort, could do no less than grant the physician's courteous offer to see her sister home.

That was the beginning of the end of Dr. Boorstein's aspirations for Miss Berger's hand. So far as his further chances were concerned on that point, he might just as well have succumbed to the pneumonia and been done with it. In one month the physician had wooed and won the young lady of the city.

Under these circumstances they could not do less than invite Mr. Boorstein to be best man. He accepted. If with sadness in his soul, and Wednesday night he played the minor part in a ceremony which he might just as well have succumbed to the pneumonia and been done with it. In one month the physician had wooed and won the young lady of the city.

YOUR MONEY

Taking Care of the Minority Stockholders, as Illustrated in the Formation of the Steel Corporation.

BY JOHN M. OSKISON.

In the course of the investigation of the steel trust by the government, a short time ago, the letter written to P. Morgan & Co. by Andrew Carnegie settling forth the terms of exchange of stocks and bonds of the Carnegie company for the securities of the new corporation was made public. It was dated February 26, 1901, and it satisfies a curiosity often expressed as to what

The letter showed that Carnegie trade $86,145.00 of Carnegie company bonds for an equal amount of bonds in the new corporation, and that he got for $92,996.000, par value, of stock in the Carnegie company, $129,494,000 of the new corporation's bonds. All of these new corporation's bonds were known as collateral trust mortgage

How did the shareholders in the Carnegie company fare? In the letter appeared this section:

"The above proposition is conditional on your taking from the other stockholders of the Carnegie company, if they desire, their shares of stock at the same price per share as I am to receive, to be paid in preferred and common shares of the United States Steel corporation, viz.: For each share of the Carnegie company stock (which had a face value of $1,000 a share) fifteen shares of preferred and fifteen shares of common stock of the par value of $910 each."

While he has received, since he wrote that letter in 1901, $88,812 1-2 in interest on the bonds he received for each $100 of face value of the old Carnegie company stock, the holders of the new corporation's stock have received $179.25 in dividends. On the open market, at the time this was figured, the owners of the stock could have got more than Mr. Carnegie could have got for his bonds by $63.75 on each $100 of face value of the old Carnegie company

Lord Ballyrot in Slangland

While strolling through a business thoroughfare with a friend, old chap we passed a lithograph which advertised to the effect that a phonologist was giving readings within. I would not have considered the proposition had not my friend urged me to patronize the phonologist in these words:

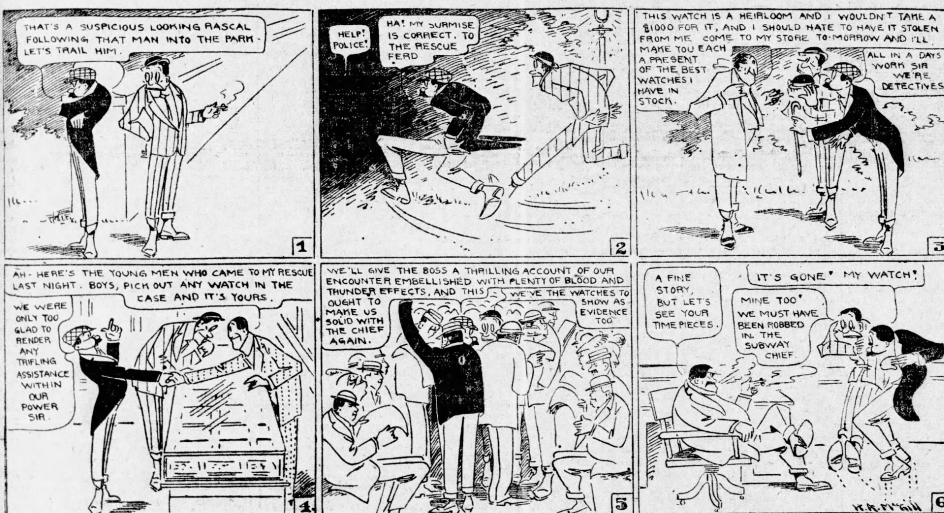

"Come in and have your neck passed over. This sink is the greatest bumpologist that ever glommed the future out of a wall on the bean. He can wise you to your past, present and future simply by gliding his pickers over your brain corner. If there ain't any bumps on your occip, the professor will gladly raise a few with a baseball bat. Come on and let 'im interpret your somnolence."

Then the Parson Beat It

An old lady, wishing to pay a compliment to the new preacher, told him: "Really, sir, we didn't know what sin was until you came to this town."

At a small dry goods store they employed a small boy to run errands. The other day, while he was waiting in the store, a lady came in and asked the clerk for a yard of silk. When it was placed before her she exclaimed: "Oh, really, I must be mad; I want mullin!" On hearing this the boy rushed out of the store, and, seeing a policeman across the way, ran up to him, shouting: "Come over here. There's a woman in our store gone mad. She wants mullin!"

RAILROADS LEND AID TO INDUSTRIAL TOUR

Promise to Co-operate With Chamber of Commerce in Trip Around City

Plans for an industrial tour of Atlanta under the auspices of the statistical and industrial bureau of the chamber of commerce look definite this Wednesday afternoon at a joint meeting of the bureau committee with representatives of the railroads entering the city. The plan of the chamber which had before the railroad men met with their approval and their co-operation was immediately pledged.

To complete the details and make out an itinerary, a committee representing the railroads will meet Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

It is the plan of the bureau to run an excursion over the various railroad lines and sidings in Atlanta and adjacent territory to the manufacturing and industrial plants in Fulton and DeKalb counties that the members of the chamber may have an opportunity to see first hand what the city is really doing along these important lines.

It was suggested at the meeting that all business men of the city, whether members of the chamber or not, be invited to take the trip and it is probable this suggestion will meet with approval.

The following members of the committee were present:

J. L. Smith, chairman; M. E. Williams, V. H. Krieselbauer, J. S. Floyd, W. T. Wynn, W. H. Leach, secretary.

YOUNG WOMAN DOPED.
IS PHYSICIAN'S THEORY

Minnie Acree Found Wandering Aimlessly Along Railroad Track

A young woman identified as Minnie Acree, of 206 Mayson and O'Neil avenues, was found wandering aimlessly along the track of the Southern railway near the Southern Car Wheel works, Wednesday afternoon. Her hair was down and she appeared to be semi-conscious and helpless. She was carried to the Hemphill avenue pharmacy, and was attended there by Dr. J. F. Freeman. The physician found that her throat was constricted. He believed that she had been doped, probably with cocaine.

Call officers Milam and Palmer, responding to a telephone call for the police, found that the young woman had been identified by two young men, one of whom was located by a ally of mine, which she held in her hand with his hand and address written on it. They took her to Grady hospital, and the young men accompanied the officers away. Later Miss Acree was permitted to leave the hospital. No arrests were made.

Spooks and Witches Reign in Atlanta
During Halloween Friday Evening

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde King, who has her pumpkin ready to make 'you tremble' with fright.

As the shades of twilight close over Atlanta Friday evening, beware of the shots and phantoms that steal forth annually on the festival of Halloween. Witches will walk, goblins gobble, hooded hoot, and shivers will run cold down your spinal column if a Jack-o'-lantern withers gravely from the gloom behind you.

Since time immemorial the eve of All Saints day, November 1, has been devoted to a viad of geniality and planning how they would scare the old folk into fits with that old hobo-goblin made out of black paint and card board.

One of those merry-hearted little schemers is Miss Clara Belle King, aged Friday evening pale wraiths will be put to flight before Masque fires and the laughter and shouts which generally accompany bobbing for apples, plucking blushing rain from a pan and looking in your sweetest's image in the mirror that reflects the jolly faces over your shoulder.

Numbers of entertainments have been planned for private homes and for churches and schools all over the city. For days past children have been busy at work eluding pumpkins, stringing popcorn and autumn leaves and planning how they would scare the old folk into fits with that old hobo-goblin made out of black paint and card board.

MERCER BACKS WARDENS
WHO CONFISCATED DUCKS

Lays Little Stress on Reports of Prosecution on Burglary Charge

State Game Commissioner Jesse E. Mercer is standing squarely behind the two Chatham county game wardens who recently confiscated a number of migratory ducks which they said were found aboard the private yacht of several prominent Savannah citizens, and Mr. Mercer lays little stress on the reports from Savannah to the effect that these citizens contemplate bringing action in the courts by charging the game wardens with burglary.

Commenting upon the incident, Mr. Mercer says:

"The game wardens in this case have, so far as I can learn, acted entirely within their powers according to law. They are not only state wardens, but have been sworn in as national wardens. These men in Savannah must be acting unadvisedly because they will find that the warden have back of them not only the state law, but the power of the nation.

"Of course, I have but two or three more days in office, but I can say that these men will receive the support of the department. My voice has always been given to the support of the law to the letter, and, in or out of office, I shall see that the national law is upheld.

"When I first entered the office of game commissioner, I was given to understand that there was a certain element in Savannah who were ready to defy the law. I took cognizance of the charge and I can say that there has been only one man in Savannah who has given me serious trouble since I have been in office. I don't believe that any man or number of men in Savannah or any other city is sufficiently powerful to put at naught the game law. I think that when they come to consider the matter they will hesitate to prosecute for burglary men who were carrying out the provisions of the game law."

Plans for the erection in Atlanta for a Pythian home, to cost not less than $50,000, were definitely agreed upon Wednesday evening at the semi-annual convention of the Knights of Pythias lodges in the fifth congressional district, held in the lodge rooms in the Kiser building. A charter has been obtained for the company to build a home and already $5,000 have been subscribed to the stock. Two sessions of the Pythian convention were held Wednesday. The afternoon session was given over to routine business and the election of officers for the ensuing year.

The new officers are: Russell K. Smith, president; Newman Lauer, first vice president; W. G. Moore, second vice president; Young H. Fraser, secretary; Louis

Beautiful Tea for Miss Rawson

The handsome interior of the home was decorated elaborately with a variety of fall blossoms and quantities of bright colored growing plants, a different color scheme being used in each room. The spacious living room, where the receiving party stood, before a mass of palms banded high, was attractive with graceful white enameled holders filled with clusters of pink chrysanthemums.

In the dining room, Killarney roses ornamented the buffet and center table, which was covered with a heavy lace cloth and held a mound of the fragrant buds enlivened with asparagus. The mint and tea were in pink as were the shaded silver candles.

Refreshments were served in the reception room from a crystal bowl wreathed with bunches of grapes, and enlivened in foliage.

The lovely young hostess wore a dainty frock of old blue chiffon, veiling satin, the tulle bordered with fur and ornamented with silver sequins.

Mrs. Westmoreland was handsomely dressed in a rich velvet with trimmings of jet and the corsage of chiffon combined with rare old lace.

The luncheon at which Mrs. R. E. Gunby was hostess Thursday at the residence of her father, Mr. Clark Howell, on Peachtree street, was in compliment to Miss Catherine Knowles, a bride-elect of November, and to Miss Katherine Ellis, one of the season's debutantes.

The drawing room, where the guests were received, was banded with palms and growing plants and justly enlivened with many handsome feathery chrysanthemums.

In the dining room a silver vase, holding pink chrysanthemums, was the centerpiece of the table, the minor appointments of which continued a lovely color suggestion of pink and white.

Mrs. Gunby received in an imported gown of heavy black satin with contrasting trim of embroidered white chiffon, which was gracefully enlivened with jet tassels and edged with bands of ermine and a corsage of Parma violets left a pretty finish to the gown.

Miss Knowles wore an imported gown of satin chrysanthemum combining many shades which was artistically designed with chiffon embroidered in pastel shades, and with this was worn a large velvet hat to match.

Miss Ellis wore a gown of taupe brocade, the short coat opening over a blouse of rare lace, and her hat of velvet was ornamented with shaded plumes.

Mrs. Frank Ellis wore a costume of black velvet, a large picture hat, trimmed with aigrettes.

The guests of the occasion included, besides the guests of honor, the debutantes of the season, and a number of Mrs. Gunby's intimate friends.

Mrs. Howe's Bridge Party
Mrs. John Bond Atkinson Howe delightfully entertained at bridge Thursday afternoon at her home in Ansley park, inviting twenty-four friends to meet her sister, Mrs. Lewis Clay Smith of Nashville and Jacksonville.

The rooms where the card tables were placed were bright with autumn foliage, and clusters of handsome yellow chrysanthemums. In artistic arrangement, adorned the cabinets and mantel.

The first prize was a silk framed drawing, room mirror and the consolation prize was a little French blouse. The occasion was a very pleasant one and a pretty compliment to the hostess.

Wilson-Sayre Wedding Plans

WASHINGTON—Invitations to the marriage of Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, daughter of the president and Mrs. Wilson, to Mr. Francis B. Sayre, in the White House, November 25, probably will be sent out this week. Between 700 and 800 persons are to be invited.

Mrs. Wilson, her daughter and her secretaries have been working on the lists since they returned from Corrick, N. H. They have faced a rather difficult problem. The president and Mrs. Wilson believe that the wedding should be modest, as that of a girl should be who always has taken more interest in home affairs than in society, and yet the official position of the family demands that it be more. Just where to draw the line has been a question.

Miss Wilson, in addition to arranging the details of her wedding, is directing the furnishing and decoration of her future home in Williamsstown, Mass., where they will live after January. When Mr. Sayre will sever his connection with the office of District Attorney Whitman, in New York, and take up his new duties as assistant to President Harry A. Garfield, of Williams college. Mr. Sayre has leased the cottage of the best residential sections of Williamsstown. It is new and has all the modern improvements.

While it is Mrs. Wilson's wish that there be as little discussion of the wedding as possible and nothing about the personnel of the wedding party is being given out here, it is understood that Miss Margaret Wilson will be her sister's chief attendant and Miss Eleanor Wilson will be one of the four bridesmaids. The bride's gown and those for her attendants are being made in New York. It is learned that American beauty pink is to be the color note of the gowns of the bride's attendants.

Their dresses are to be fashioned of the softest of pink chiffon and satin with a sort of cutaway panther tulle. They will wear small pink and gold lace hats with transparent wired gold lace brims. That worn by the chief attendant will be a deeper shade of pink than the rest. The hats have little satin shaded rose sprays posed in front.

Interesting Gossip of Interesting People

Florida circles and society leaders of the national capital were greatly interested in the announcement that Miss Nell Fletcher, sister of the late Senator Fletcher, is to marry Lionel Smith Gordon, the only son of Sir Lionel Smith Gordon, Bart., and Lady Smith Gordon, of Alderholt Lodge, near Salisbury.

The announcement came from London, England, and was later confirmed by Mrs. Fletcher, who was greatly surprised that it had become known.

Miss Gordon are both in Washington. I am sorry that this has leaked out. Mr. Smith Gordon is from Dublin, Ireland.

The engagement of Miss Fletcher will be of unusual interest to her wide circle of friends throughout the south. During her residence in Washington she has been prominently identified with the social life of the capital and has had many honors bestowed upon her.

Miss Fletcher has been an ardent worker in the White House Chapter, Children of the Confederacy, and has been in keeping up the interest in the Confederate Memorial Hall. For two years she was one of the executive committee in the South which is the special feature at the Southern Relief hall, which is a voluntary benefit of the winter season and is held in the ballroom of the New Willard hotel.

Being a gifted elocutionist, Mr. Mark has often appeared in amateur plays, and last winter she took a leading part in a play given at the May house for the benefit of the Ukrainian church.

Allen's Boots at $4 a Pair

Specializing on women's footwear as we do, you can have a greater variety of styles to choose from and better styles, we think, than most stores carry at any one price. We have thirty-three separate and distinct styles of women's boots at $4.00 a pair. You can come here expecting to find at least a dozen shoes at $4.00, that by every standard of value are worth fifty cents to a dollar a pair more. The leathers are patent, gun metal, Russia calf, vici kid, and dull mat kid, and many of these are cloth tops; some have plain toes and some have tips.

A few thoughtless people have circulated the report that we have nothing but high price shoes. We have arranged a display of $4.00 boots in our south window that you should see. We cannot devote so much space to one price shoe permanently, and this will give you an opportunity to see what Allen can furnish at $4.00, in the way of footwear.

A new shipment of satin, cloth of gold and silver, bronze and dull kid evening slippers has just been received by express. This will be welcome to the brides-to-be and their attendants who are right now looking for new footwear. Our stock of Cuban-French heel and L. X. V. heel footwear is unexcelled in the South.

We saw the tendency in time and we can show you over fifty different styles of Cuban-French heel boots, pumps, Colonials and slippers, ranging in price from $5.00 to $8.00 a pair in boots and Colonials. $3.00 up to $8.00 in slippers.
